

Amira Al-Sharif

Amira is a Yemeni photographer with over seventeen years of experience documenting the beauty and suffering of her beloved country. Her work has been published in Yemeni newspapers as well as internationally with National Geographic, The Washington Post, and The Guardian.

She has received multiple prizes, fellowships, and nominations including the World Press Photo Foundation, Women Photograph, Prince Claus Fund, Arab Fund for Arts and Culture, Samir Kassir Foundation, International Cities of Refuge Network, and Free Press Unlimited's "Most Resilient Journalist Award."

Amira's chapter in the bestselling anthology "Our Women on the Ground: Essays by Arab Women Reporting from the Arab World" (2019) explores her ever-evolving photography project "Yemeni Women With Enduring Spirits."

At present, she is an artist-in-residence at Cité Internationale des Arts in Paris.
