

Ola Husamou

Writer, Artist related to ICORN - Syria/Sweden

A Syrian poet, writer, development trainer and cultural activist, currently resides as an ICORN guestwriter in Eskilstuna, Sweden.

She worked in print and electronic newspapers, and in several Syrian and Arab children's magazine. Besides this job, she also wrote and directed several plays for children and adults, and she participated in other plays as an actor.

Her poems have been published in several publications and magazines and some of them have been translated to many languages.

She participated in several literary and poetry festivals in Syria and Lebanon and she established several cultural events and projects in Syria. Her 11 children's stories have been published in Lebanon, Jordan and Syria.

In addition to a musical album called "A human Cry" which is a lyric for peace I wrote and composed the songs and participated in it as a singer.

